

INDICE

Riassunto - Abstract	pag. 3
Presentazione	5
1. Some General Considerations	7
1.1 Healthy Nature	12
1.2 Social Values and Attitudes towards Nature/Landscape and Legislation	» 13
2. The Cultural Debate about Italian Late Modernisation	» 19
2.1 The Role of Hydro-Electric Energy and Water Regulation Projects	» 19
2.2 Water and Fascist Regime: “Integral Reclamation”	» 24
3. Education and Social Attitudes	» 35
3.1 From Idealism to the Nationalist School: the Role of Nature Study	35
3.2 Idealistic Influences on the Republic School: the Role of Environment and Nature Studies	» 37
4. Recreation and Tourism	41
4.1 Nature Knowledge and Recreation: the Club Alpino Italiano Activity (1920-1970)	41
4.2 Middle-Class and Touring Club Italiano Activity	43
4.3 Open Air Activities and Education: the Italian Scouting Movement	47
5. From “Paesaggio” to Nature Preservation	» 51
5.1 Semiotic Framework: Preservation and National Parks	» 51
5.2 Ambiguity in Legislation and National Parks Deterioration	» 53
5.3 “Paesaggio” and Italian Geography	» 54
5.4 The Beginnings of Natural/Historical Heritage Preservation: Activities of the “Italia Nostra” Association (1955-1970)	» 56
5.5 New Attitudes towards Environment and Nature	» 58

6. Conclusions: Semiotic and Comparative Themes	pag 63
6.1 Nature as Aesthetic Category	» 63
6.1.1 The Beauty of Nature and Preservationist Legislation	» 63
6.1.2 The Role of Education	» 63
6.1.3 The Scouting Movement: from Militaristic to Religious Influences	» 65
6.1.4 Idealistic Influences on Legislation	» 66
6.2 Nature as a Natural Base to Be Transformed	» 67
6.2.1 Italian Late Development	» 67
6.2.2 Italy and Urban Culture	» 68
6.3 Views of Nature without Planning	» 68
6.3.1 Club Alpino Italiano and the Idea of “Wilderness”	» 69
6.3.2 Touring Club Italiano and Landscape Approaches	» 69
6.3.3 Lack of Planning Culture	» 70
6.4 Nationalistic Influences on Semiotics	» 70
6.5 The Second Post-War Period and the Semantic Vacuum	»
6.5.1 Legislation	» 72
6.5.2 Education	» 73
6.5.3 Role of Private Associations in Promoting New Attitudes	» 74
References	77